the CRUMPLE ZONE

by Buddy Thomas

LAMBCO is thrilled to be presenting this Christmas comedy at the Waterloo East Theatre. It's the first time LAMBCO has produced here and isn't it a lovely venue that's so centrally located.

Thank you for coming to see this play and for buying tickets to see live theatre. It's only due to people like you that small-scale theatre will survive. Please tell all your friends that we're here and if they also purchase tickets we might be able to continue into our 19th year.

A note from the Director

The Crumple Zone is a tragi-comedy about all the simple complexities of what it means to be human.

It is about the difficulties of navigating honest friendships, of heartbreak and eternal longing.

It is about the hard realisations we must face when we come to realise that the dreams of our youth may not be fulfilled.

It is about love, loss and failure, and eventually hope.

It is about how funny and sad life is.

Fundamentally, it is about how we all yearn to belong, to someone, to something.

How we are all searching for love and meaning.

And that, eventually, we will survive the challenges thrown in our path and we will be okay.

A messy modern play that stretches from despair to redemption.

It will make you laugh and cry and probably break your heart so it becomes a little wider with hope and joy.
